

The environment has invested in us—VALCUCINE repays its debt to nature in the following ways:

- Founding BIOFOREST, a rapidly growing organization whose programs include planting, education and environmental preservation
- Using recycled materials and farmed trees (no old growth forests), and replacing trees with twice the number needed to offset their production's CO2 emissions
- Dematerialization—up to 86% less material in its cabinet doors than other brands
- Kitchens are easily recyclable after use, so the owner can be eco-responsible
- Using non-toxic, water based and citrus oil finishes

VALCUCINE products are fully guaranteed and certified:

- All products come with a 5-year manufacturer's guarantee, 7-year parts availability
- Valcucine was the first Italian kitchen to receive the German Institute Standard seal of approval (GS), after strict voluntary testing.
- Valcucine was also Italy's first kitchen cabinet maker to obtain UNI EN ISO14001 certification, in recognition of their dedication to eco-friendly production and sustainability.
